GEOGRAPHY

Edina is 16.0 square miles and includes 21,669 housing units and an average of 2.24 persons per household (not including persons in group quarters).

UNIQUE FEATURES

Edina is a small community adjacent to southwest Minneapolis. Edina has various recreational, residential, and commercial districts for consumers, residents, and visitors. Edina residents value their historic roots and strong local economy. With residential neighborhoods being 95% developed, the various parks, lakes, and high-quality medical facility in the area continues to draw residents to the suburb.

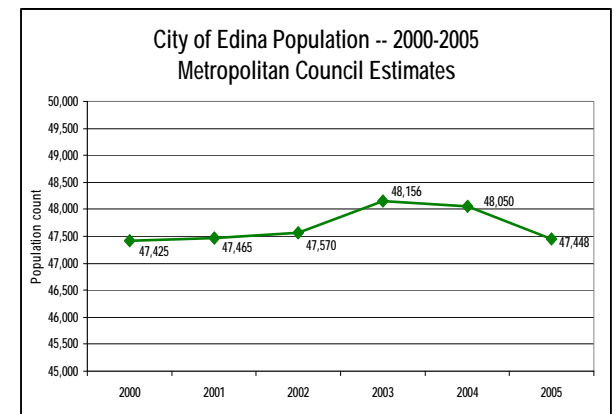

INCOME & POVERTY

Edina has a median household income of $66,019, which is nearly $20,000 more than the state median. Edina has a lower percentage of families and individuals living in poverty (2.0% of families and 3.3% of individuals) compared to the state (5.1% of families and 7.9% of individuals).

In seven years, the percent of students enrolled in the Free and Reduced Lunch Program has increased from 2.8% in 2000 to 6.7% in 2006.

POPULATION

Edina experienced continual growth between 1990 and 2000. After a slight rise in 2003, Metropolitan Council estimates Edina's population stabilized and in 2005 had returned to what it was in 2000.
